Crown Office worker stole cash & drugs

A PROSECUTION service worker who stole hundreds of thousands of pounds of cash and drugs from an evidence store has been jailed.

Katherine Vaughan, 34, of Aberdeen, worked as a production keeper for the Crown Office in the city when she embezzled more than £90,000 in cash and stole £147,000 of drugs – including kilos of heroin and cocaine – over nine years.

Among other stolen evidence items found in her home were sanitary pads, a stun gun, cigarette ends, chewing gum, jewellery, clingwrap and a safe.

The High Court in Edinburgh heard she used the money to buy expensive make-up and jewellery, clothes, piercings and tattoos.

Jailing Vaughan for three years and nine months, judge Lord Beckett said her actions were a "quite extraordinary breach of trust".

Vaughan knew her behaviour was wrong but it was "compulsion", her lawyer Ximena Vengoechea told the court.

Vaughan pleaded guilty to taking the items between January 1 2011 and September 27 2019.

Sharp rise in house prices

UK house prices are 6.5 per cent higher than a year ago – the sharpest rise for nearly six years, the Nationwide has said.

The acceleration came as the housing market remained "robust" despite the economic effects of the coronavirus pandemic, the lender said.

House prices were 0.9% higher in November than in October, with the average property valued at £229,721, the Nationwide said.

Some buyers have been looking to take advantage of stamp duty – or its equivalent – tax breaks in different parts of the UK.

DEBENHAMS DOOMED

242-year-old chain to close after rescue plans collapse

DEBENHAMS stores are set to close after last-ditch efforts to rescue the ailing chain failed.

All 12,000 employees are now likely to lose their jobs when the chain's 124 shops cease trading.

The news comes just hours after Topshop owner Arcadia fell into administration, putting 13,000 jobs at risk.

Debenhams itself had been in administration since April. Hopes of a rescue were crushed after the last remaining bidder, JD Sports, withdrew.

The 12,000 jobs at the retailer are set to go over the coming months – unless the administrators do a deal for all or parts of the business as the process unfolds.

Staff were told the news on Tuesday morning.

Debenhams outlets will continue to accept the firm's store cards and will process returns as normal.

Hilco, the restructuring firm which specialises in winding up retailers, will start going into stores today to begin clearing stock.

Tough trading during the coronavirus pandemic proved to be the final blow for both Debenhams – which opened its first store in 1778 – and Arcadia, which employ more than 25,000 people between them.

Geoff Rowley, of FRP Advisory, joint administrator to Debenhams and Partner at FRP, said: "All reasonable steps were taken to complete a transaction that would secure the future of Debenhams."

"However, the economic landscape is extremely challenging and, coupled with the uncertainty facing the UK retail industry, a viable deal could not be reached."

Irish PM calls for 'endgame' on Brexit deal

IRELAND'S prime minister has said he is "hopeful" a Brexit free-trade deal can be made this week, after leaders warned time is "running out".

Micheal Martin (above) said British and EU negotiators have now reached an "endgame".

"It will require political will to conclude the deal and there are options to conclude the deal and so, on balance, I would be hopeful that it can be done at the end of this week," he said.

Boris Johnson and Mr Martin have spoken on the phone to discuss progress in the negotiations, with the UK prime minister "underlining his commitment to reaching a deal that respects the sovereignty of the UK".

They also spoke of a need to prioritise the Good Friday Agreement and avoid a hard border with Ireland.

There are fears that trade deal talks could stretch into next week, with compromises still to be made on state aid, enforcement and fishing.

Now it's 85p for 1st class stamp!

THE price of stamps is set to rise from January, with a 1st class stamp going up 9p to 85p and a 2nd class one up 1p to 66p. Royal Mail announced.

Bosses said they have "considered any pricing changes very carefully" due to the coronavirus pandemic but said the rises were "necessary to help ensure the sustainability" of the universal service.

Royal Mail recently revealed letter volumes have fallen 28 per cent in the six months to September 27, compared with a year earlier.

Royal Mail said: "The reduction in letter volumes has had a significant impact on the finances of the universal service, which lost £180million in the first half of the year."

FOOD FIGHT: Eustice (below) and Gove (right)

A SENIOR Cabinet minister has clarified that a Scotch egg would count as a "substantial meal" after a "farcical 24 hours for the government."

Michael Gove's comments came after he'd previously contradicted Cabinet colleague George Eustice over the status of the egg and sausage meat combination.

The definition matters because under the Tier 2 restrictions affecting the majority of England's population from today, pubs can only serve alcohol to customers consuming a substantial meal – something that would normally be considered a main course.

Landlords could face hefty fines for failing to comply with

By COLIN HURST
news@sundaysport.co.uk

the rules, but ministers and Downing Street have caused confusion over the breadcrumb-coated egg.

On Monday morning, Environment Secretary Mr Eustice said a Scotch egg "probably would count as a substantial meal if there were table service" – something which is mandatory in pubs under the coronavirus rules.

But on Tuesday morning, Mr Gove told ITV's Good Morning Britain it was "probably a starter".

But he later told ITV News: "A Scotch egg is a substantial meal."

Mr Gove added: "I myself would definitely scoff a couple of Scotch eggs if I had the chance, but I do recognise that it is a substantial meal."

Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster Mr Gove said the concept of the substantial meal had existed in law for many years, allowing families to buy 16-year-olds an alcoholic drink with food, but he could not say what it constituted.

"They (pubs) already do know what the rules are and they have for years now," he said.

Risk

"My own preference when it comes to a substantial meal might be more than just a Scotch egg, but that's because I'm a hearty trencherman."

"The government is relying on people's common sense."

More than 57 per cent of England's population will be in Tier 2 restrictions, imposing severe limits on the ability of pubs to operate.

In the harsher Tier 3, affecting more than 41% of the population, pubs and restaurants can only operate on a takeaway or delivery basis.

Businesses run the risk of £10,000 fines or even closure for failing to comply with coronavirus regulations.

Downing Street insisted the concept of a "substantial meal" is well understood in the hospitality industry, without saying whether that includes a Scotch egg.

On whether the rules permit pints being served alongside sausage rolls, pork pies or a ploughman's lunch, Boris Johnson's official spokesman said: "I'm obviously not going to get into the detail of every possible meal."

"We've been clear: barsnacks do not count as a substantial meal but it's well established practice in the hospitality industry what does."

DON'T NIP INTO CORNWALL FOR A PINT!

SPECIAL police units will patrol the border between Devon and Cornwall – to stop Devon folk popping into the neighbouring county for a pint!

Cornwall is the only area of mainland England going into Tier 1 today, so residents can mix with other households indoors and drink in pubs without ordering a "substantial meal".

But despite them

sharing the same police force, Devon will be placed in Tier 2 – which means stricter rules around pubs, restaurants and socialising indoors.

There are fears that Devon residents will swamp across the River Tamar into Cornwall to enjoy a booze-up without a meal.

Under the new tier system, it is illegal to travel to an area in a lower tier to take advantage of lighter restrictions.

Dedicated coronavirus police patrols are being put on across Devon and Cornwall to stop people breaching the system.

Devon and Cornwall Police have confirmed "up to 10 additional dedicated double-crewed units" will be available across both counties whose "sole purpose will be to respond to COVID-related matters".

MERRY XXX-MAS!

Festive

THREE-QUARTERS of couples have MORE sex over the festive holidays – and Christmas Eve is the favourite day for passion, according to a new survey.

Four out of five people (82%) say that Christmas is an 'aphrodisiac' and they desire sex more at this time of year because it is a time of celebration.

A similar number (84%) say relatives sleeping nearby does not stop them from having sex.

The most popular festive song to have sex to is Mariah Carey's All I Want For Christmas Is You, followed by Wham's Last Christmas and Fairytale of New York by the Pogues and Kirsty MacColl.

Cheating surges in December and the peak day for affairs this year will be Friday, December 18.

The figures are from a survey of 2,000 people by IllicitEncounters.com, the UK's leading affairs website.

Christmas Eve was our favourite night for festive frolics, chosen by 44% of respondents, followed by New Year's Eve (28%), Christmas Day (17%), New Year's Day (6%) and Boxing Day (5%).

A fifth of couples (22%) said they had been caught having sex while staying with relatives at Christmas. And 52% said they had heard other couples having sex while staying with family in the same house.

Almost four out of ten (38%) said Christmas was the most likely time of the year when they would cheat on a partner.

A third of respondents (33%) have cheated on a partner in December, with the office Christmas party the most likely occasion.

IllicitEncounters.com sex and relationship expert Jessica Leoni said: "It is going to be a very Merry Sexmas this year, with couples wanting to put a nightmare 2020 behind them by sharing a lot of intimacy over the Christmas holiday."

"We're expecting a 22% increase in activity over the month because the national lockdown is ending just as the Christmas celebrations start in earnest."

"There won't be many Christmas parties this year, but couples will use the loosening of restrictions to meet with people they have connected with online in the previous few months."

"And the pubs reopening always prompts a big increase in cheating."

COCK 'N' BALLS GETS CHOP

A HUGE wooden COCK 'N' BALLS has disappeared from a mountainside where it mysteriously appeared a few years back.

The seven-foot tall 440lbs sculpture appeared to have been chopped down over the weekend, with just a sorry pile of sawdust left behind on the 5,702-foot high Gruenten mountain in southern Germany.

The male genitalia had gained celebrity status as a destination for hikers – and even appeared on Google Maps, where it was classified as a "cultural monument".

Sir David lands Rose d'Or gong

VETERAN broadcaster Sir David Attenborough will receive a lifetime achievement gong at the Rose d'Or Awards, its organisers say.

The 94-year-old (above) will be honoured during a virtual ceremony in recognition of his 60-year career.

Sir David is one of the most influential broadcasters in British television history and is known for natural history programmes including The Blue Planet II, Planet Earth II, Dynasties and Seven Worlds One Planet.

He said: "Television has achieved a great thing worldwide, making people everywhere aware of what's happening to our environment. If I've been a part of that and if this is a reward for that, well then, I thank you very much indeed. I'm most grateful."

Sir David will deliver an acceptance speech during the virtual ceremony on December 9, which will be hosted by comic Nish Kumar.

The Crown is just one Hel of a drama!

THE Crown actress Helena Bonham Carter says the show has a "moral responsibility" to make it clear to viewers it is a drama and not historical fact.

Netflix's regal drama has attracted criticism for its previous use of creative licence.

Oliver Dowden, the Culture Secretary, is expected to write to the US streaming giant this week, raising concerns that some younger viewers may mistake The Crown as a work of fact.

Helena, 54 (above), who plays Princess Margaret on the show, said: "I do feel very strongly because I think we have a moral responsibility to say, 'Hang on guys, this is not drama doc, we're making a drama'."

Earl Spencer, the brother of Princess Diana, has also called for Netflix to add a disclaimer, making it clear The Crown is a work of fiction.

He said: "I worry people do think that this is gospel – and that's unfair."

Wright stalk woman lands restrain ban

AN "obsessed" stalker who bombarded TV star Matthew Wright and his family with messages, demanding to speak with him and look after his baby, has been banned from contacting them.

Michelle Ranicar, 54, repeatedly visited his home in Primrose Hill, north London, with gifts and messages declaring her love for him, after she was barred from being a guest in the audience of his TV chat show due to security concerns about her behaviour.

Her seven-month stalking campaign was brought to an end in May last year, when she was arrested after turning up at the Wrights' home.

At Wood Green Crown Court judge Jeremy Benson QC handed Ranicar a three-year community order with a restraining order.

MORNING GLORY!

THIS is what boxer Jake Paul wakes up to in a morning – model and Shagmag editor Julia Rose in her dressing gown.

The 26-year-old social media starlet gave fans a look at her morning routine – and a peep at one of her wonderful busters in the post (right).

One fan said: "All that's missing from that scene is a nice cup of tea and a hot buttered crumpet!"

ROLEPLAY: Piers and wife Celia (above) and Morgan with Susanna

GOOD Morning Britain viewers were being comforted yesterday after loudmouth presenter Piers Morgan gave an insight into his kinky SEX LIFE – at 8am!

Morgan, 55, horrified co-presenter Susanna Reid as he opened up about his and wife Celia Walden's lust tricks.

He cheekily discussed their "role play fantasies" as he admitted they had got stuck in a rut during lockdown earlier this year.

Susanna, 49, begged her co-host to stop speaking after mentioning an article Celia wrote about their marital discussion that was published yesterday morning.

She cheekily jibed: "By the way, your lovely wife was talking about how you're trying to keep..."

Piers matter-of-factly interrupted: "Role play, yes."

Susanna then told viewers: "Can I just say, this isn't a private conversation – this is a national newspaper column in The Telegraph this morning!"

Her co-star explained: "You know when you're stuck inside... so, my wife out of nowhere decided to tell this story."

Boring

"When you're with the same person all year and you can't really go anywhere or do anything, it does get a bit boring..."

"So I suggested dinner together."

Piers then read from Celia's column directly, revealing that she had told him she'd "had her fill" of him after spending so much time with each other in COVID lockdown.

She then suggested that they went to dinner pretending to be other people, even committing to the idea by "wedding rings coming off, we only meet in a restaurant or pub, and we do a whole 'is this seat taken' thing."

Susanna couldn't contain her horror as Piers continued, pointing out that it wasn't yet eight in the morning when Piers revealed his wife had asked what his "fantasies" were.

Poking

In typical Piers style, he couldn't resist poking fun, sharing that he'd told his wife: "I have one where we pretend we are complete strangers who have never met."

When she replied: "Oh, and you pick me up in a bar?" Piers retorted: "No, just the first bit – we stay strangers! There's a role play."

Piers couldn't stop giggling, later teasing Susanna for being a "killjoy" as she brought the conversation – which had centred around a man marrying his sex doll – to a halt.

Piers and Celia have been married since 2010 and share nine-year-old daughter Elise.

COPS PULL 'DEL BOY' ON FOREIGN PLATES

A MOTORCYCLIST stopped for speeding has been compared to Del Boy from classic British comedy Only Fools and Horses – after adopting a fake French accent in a bid to avoid prosecution.

The biker was pulled over on the A27 at Lancing, West Sussex, on Sunday on a bike with French registration plates.

PC Glen McArthur, of Sussex Police, revealed on Twitter that a check found the vehicle was registered in the UK.

He posted: "This little tinker thought he'd run around on French plates to avoid insurance, licence etc. His fake accent was comical! Au Revoir licence."

One Twitter user asked the officer: "Did he sound like the 'Allo 'Allo! policeman?"

And another Twitter user said: "I'm reminded of Del Boy's 'Laboratoire Garnier'."

I'm a dead man, says Nxivm sex slave cult leader

NXIVM sex-cult leader Keith Raniere says he's as good as DEAD when he's transferred to prison, according to a report.

Raniere – who was sentenced to 120 years in prison last month for running the sex-slave cult – talks about how dangerous being among the general population of a maximum-security prison could be for him, according to recordings that Nxivm's former publicist Frank Parlato posted on his blog the Frank Report.

"Well, with these charges and if I'm sentenced to life and go to a penitentiary, it is a death penalty," Raniere says in messages to his followers.

Raniere, who is being housed in Brooklyn's federal Metropolitan Detention Center, claimed in March that a "vicious" man "told various people he would put as much money as necessary, literally hundreds of millions of dollars, to have me put in jail for the rest of my life, to have me killed, to have me destroyed".

If you go down to the woods, you'll see a... bobbie-hat flasher!

POLICE are hunting a bobbie-hat wearing flasher who waved his bellend twice just outside a small village.

Officers believe the same man indecently exposed himself to shocked members of the public in the wooded area of Church Way in Thorpe Malsor – a village of 145 souls near Kettering, Northants.

The flasher struck first on November 9 at about 11am and then repeated the indecent act on November 24 at about 9.20am.

A Northamptonshire Police spokesman said: "The person we would like to talk to is a white, middle-aged male, about 5ft 8in and of an average or maybe slim build.

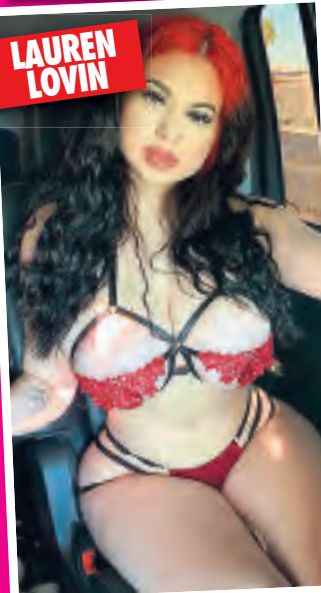

"He was wearing a distinctive black bobbie hat, a black bodywarmer and black leggings."

I WANT TO SNIFF LIZ HURLEY'S GUSSET!

By SUZIE SHELDON
news@sundaysport.co.uk

THE eye-popping curves of evergreen stunna Liz Hurley have proved far too much to handle for those who lurk in the comments section of the Daily Mail website.

Once again, members of MailOnline's chattering class swarmed to their keyboards to pass thoughts on the latest snaps of luscious Liz modelling her sexy bikini range.

She has been holed up in her £6million country mansion in Wiltshire during lockdown with her 18-year-old model son Damien, elder sister Kate and 80-year-old mum Angela.

Skimpy

But the fabulously fit 55-year-old has been helping to keep spirits high by reposting photos of her frolicking in her skimpy swimsuits in exotic locations around the world.

The Mail website's fans appear to have logged on with their pants firmly at their knees and a bumper box of tissues at their side.

Starship878, from Ely, was ungalled but perhaps spoke for many when he commented: "Would absolutely love to sniff her gusset."

Gnr574 piped up: "I'd last about 30 seconds with her."

And MrRocketScience, in London, said: "I'd love to know what it looks like down below."

Not of all the remarks were complimentary.

ItchyFlaps, from "Crabs City, Eritrea", snarled: "Dusty and dry as the Sahara downstairs."

While keefly, in Cheltenham, admitted: "I'd eat her like a feedbag."

Man tried to bonk bollard

A MAN who suffers from schizophrenia "tried to have sex with a metal bollard" outside a Marks & Spencer store.

Richard Parker, 48, was seen by a female witness "exposing himself" in Grimsby, Lincs.

Prosecutor Craig Lowe told Grimsby Crown Court: "Without any warning he dropped his trousers and was exposed."

"He turned around and she said it appeared he was trying to have sex with a metal bollard."

"He pulled his trousers up and approached her, then walked to a bench eight feet away and exposed himself again."

In a separate incident, Parker spat at council workers who asked him to move away.

Parker was given a 12-month community order and placed on the Sex Offenders' Register.

NO GOOD IN BED? ASK MY MAN!

Halle laughs off sex slur

HALLE Berry is laughing off negative jibes Single Ladies actress LisaRaye McCoy made about her sex life.

On Fox Soul's Cocktails With Queens, McCoy and her co-hosts – Claudia Jordan, Vivica A. Fox and Syleena Johnson – first discussed whether singer Toni Braxton was a good lover.

"Toni Braxton got some fine men back in the day," Jordan, 47, said, implying she must be good in bed.

McCoy, 53, responded: "We don't know what she's doing in the bedroom. It could be like Halle Berry."

Hot

When Jordan asked McCoy to clarify whether she was insinuating that Berry, 54, was a bad lover, the Single Ladies star said: "That's what they say. That's what I read and that's what I heard."

But Halle hit back on social media, claiming her boyfriend, singer-songwriter Van Hunt, would tell a different tale.

She wrote: "Ms. @The-RealL.Raye1, ask my man @vanhunt he'll tell ya all y'all need to know," with a crying-laughing emoji.

Hunt, 50, has not chimed in and McCoy did not respond to the tweet.

Halle's sex life has been a hot topic recently. Earlier this month, the Catwoman star revealed she had her first orgasm at age 11.

MEG: IT'S NO SIN TO FINGER YOURSELF, GIRLS!

SHAME OVER:
Megan is more open about self pleasure

By SUZIE SHELTON

SEXY Megan Barton-Hanson says she was slut-shamed at school because she admitted fingering her teenage minge.

In the latest episode of her podcast You Come First with Megan Barton-Hanson, the Love Island star, 26, admitted that being 'badly slut-shamed' at school is why she is now so outspoken about sex and female pleasure.

Megan confessed she "carried a sense of shame around" because her group of friends were so judgemental.

Horrible

And those feelings continued when she was given "such a hard time in the [Love Island] villa" for being a sex worker.

The reality star admitted: "At school, I was badly slut-shamed and I carried a sense of shame around with me about it. I think that's why I'm so outspoken now."

"My friends growing up... because, I don't know, they thought I was embarrassing because I admitted to masturbating. My friendship group were so judgmental and horrible.

"I'd never even masturbated at this point, I wouldn't even know what I'd be doing."

Megan explained she pretended to be practised in self-pleasure to try to impress an older guy.

Talking about women pleasuring themselves, Meghan asserted: "It's definitely a sin NOT to use the clitoris for pleasure!"

"I feel like I'm still exploring with different toys. I go through phases, I've got a bit lazy with it, I just do it when I go to bed!"

"I think I should be a bit more experimental with it. But maybe I should wait until I get blinds in my new house before I start experimenting too much."

Megan added that she thinks it's wrong that girls aren't taught about female pleasure in sex education classes – and revealed that it wasn't until recently that she found out that the G-spot is real.

A MAN plummeted to his death as he tried to take a photo at a beauty spot.

Wesley Stedham, 48, fell 50 feet from the Chimney Tops Overlook in the Great Smoky Mountains National Park in Tennessee.

Stedham, who was at the park with his family, had tried to climb down a steep dirt embankment below the overlook in order to get a better photo, officials said.

Losing his footing, he plunged down and suffered fatal head trauma in the fall.

Park officials said it was the first time a visitor to the park had died as a result of trying to take a photograph.

Friends described Stedham, of Warrior, Alabama, as a friendly soul who loved high school football and refereeing games at Hayden High School.

PLOP GOES SCHOOL TRUSTEE'S CAREER

A SCHOOL governor flushed her career down the toilet by accidentally broadcasting her PLOP BREAK on Zoom during a public meeting.

Frances Cogelja (below) resigned as a trustee of the Hackensack Board of Education in New Jersey over the embarrassing video fail, after she brought her laptop with her into the bathroom to relieve herself.

Cogelja apparently was unaware she had left the camera on – and the trip to do her business in the toilet was witnessed by nearly 140 attendees of the virtual meeting, including students.

The board's vice-president, Scott James-Vickery, later tackled the NSFW spectacle.

"As far as I'm concerned, while our teachers are being professional and you're at home, sitting on the toilet, we are moving on with this district doing what's best," he said.

Cogelja's resignation was announced by the board. It has until January 29 to fill her board seat.

FRANKENSTEIN KILLER!

VIKTOR Dembovskis had been planning his attack for days.

Crouching in his bolthole in dark undergrowth in woods near Sudbury, West London, he was hidden.

Yet the unwashed and stinking Dembovskis enjoyed an unrestricted view of the road ahead.

He watched, and he waited, panting with nervous excitement as he gripped the shaft of a nine-inch knife.

He didn't have long to wait. Jeshma Raithatha was making her way home to Greenford having spent the day revising for her upcoming A-levels at nearby Clarendon High School.

The student, described as a "delightful, sensitive, caring and creative" had the world at her feet.

When she wasn't nose-down in text books, the 17-year-old was planning a professional singing career and applying for university.

As she stepped off the bus at around 3pm on May 16, 2005, her thoughts might have been on her upcoming holiday to the Canary Islands.

She never got to take that trip or to further her studies. Something terrible stood in her path.

As she made her way through a park behind a leisure centre, Latvian-born Dembovskis pounced.

Stabbed

Jeshma was just 500 yards from her home.

During a frenzied attack, which lasted an hour, she was mercilessly throttled, losing consciousness while frantically trying to fight off her assailant, who then raped her.

Then, to ensure that Jeshma could never reveal his identity, Dembovskis stabbed her twice in the neck and three times in the heart.

Her body was discovered eight days later on May 24.

Dembovskis had only arrived in Britain in November the previous year when Latvia joined the EU, granting him right of entry, and had been working at a car wash.

When Jeshma's case became a murder hunt, he'd fled back to his homeland to lie low at his mother's house in poverty stricken Livani, just over 100 miles east of the capital Riga.

But it didn't take long before police came knocking on his door and investigating officers soon discovered Dembovskis's guilt.

He had vanished from a house he'd shared with a dozen other immigrants, having robbed £370 from a room-mate.

Those he shared the doss house with described how Dembovskis had been trying to hide scratch marks on his face.

And detectives soon found a zip-up fleece he'd left in London, which contained two bloodstreaked necklaces belonging to Jeshma.

He'd even left a set of his keys

SHE was the perfect student – bright, bubbly, ambitious, and just three days shy of her 18th birthday.

He was a monstrous predator, dubbed 'Frankenstein' because of his large odd-shaped head, vacant eyes and foul-smelling skin infection.

When their paths crossed, the consequences were horrific. But when the full picture of his sick past emerged, there was anger at why this monster was ever allowed on the streets of Britain...

next to Jeshma's body. Dembovskis, then 42, was extradited to Britain and his trial at the Old Bailey began on March 14, 2006, where he denied raping, sexually assaulting and murdering Jeshma.

It was then that Dembovskis's gruesome crime record in Latvia was revealed to a stunned jury – sparking a public outcry as to how he'd been able to breeze into the UK without checks.

Jonathan Laidlaw, prosecuting, told the court: "In June 1990, the defendant followed Anastasia Skadinyas as she was crossing a bridge.

"He put a knife to her throat and said, 'I want you, or I'll cut you. Don't scream, nobody will help you'."

Dembovskis then dragged her to a riverbank and raped her at knifepoint.

Prey

He was jailed for seven years for that attack.

But within weeks of his release in 1997 he was stalking his next prey.

This time he targeted Svetlana Dolbikova, then 19 and three months pregnant.

She would later say: "He held a knife to me while he raped me, I screamed at him, 'I'm pregnant, I'm pregnant!' but he did not care."

Two months after Svetlana's ordeal, Dembovskis stuck again, dragging Ineta Maloseva into a filth-strewn basement as they walked home together from a party. He raped her too.

Shuddering, she told his trial: "He pushed me to the wall and put a kitchen knife to my neck, drawing blood. I will never forget the foul smell in that basement."

"His body was covered with a skin infection and he smelled of sweat."

Incredibly, despite being sentenced to serve another seven years in jail, he was freed early in 2000 when a

SERIAL RAPIST:
Killer Viktor Dembovskis had a long history of violent attacks bungling appeal judge ruled that because Ineta had been friends with his previous victim Svetlana, she had been "foolish" to go near him.

Back at the Old Bailey, it took just three hours for jurors to find Dembovskis guilty of murder and two counts of rape.

Judge Peter Beaumont handed down three life sentences, telling Dembovskis he will die in jail.

He added: "You have not played one jot of remorse for the appalling crimes you committed against that girl or for the consequences to her family."

"You have twisted, lied and cast about for any excuse you could think of to avoid your responsibility for the abduction of a 17-year-old girl.

"You killed her so you could get away, and you nearly did."

"For behaviour as appalling as that there is only one sentence – a life sentence from which you will never, ever be released."

Jeshma's father Suresh and mother Manjula wept in court as ruthless Dembovskis laughed and sneered throughout the proceedings. Three years after the trial, his vile crime would haunt the Raithatha family further.

In April 2009, Jeshma's grieving sister Nishma, 16, fell to her death from the top of a car park.

Coroner Andrew Walker said:

"Nishma...had never come to terms with the loss of her sister who had been murdered and this had made her unwell."

So the Raithatha family have suffered the extreme pain of losing two daughters due to Dembovskis' evil crimes.

Now 52, he is currently held at HMP Wakefield, the ultra "high risk" Category A prison known, fittingly, as "Monster Mansion" - where he still rots.

FIGHT: Linda and James Doyle

By GRACE HOOPER
news@sundaysport.co.uk

A WOMAN stabbed herself in the MINGE to fake self-defence after shooting her husband dead.

Linda Doyle, 66, told cops her 71-year-old husband James had attacked her as she slept in their bed.

She claims he had stabbed her in the stomach and genitals, so she shot him on July 30 last year.

But prosecutors claim her injuries were self-inflicted in an attempt to get away with killing her husband.

Knife

Doyle called police on the night of her husband's death and said they had got into a fight.

Officers found the couple lying on the bedroom floor.

James was pronounced dead at the scene and his wife was airlifted to hospital, where she was treated for stab wounds.

The woman's lawyer said she had acted in self-defence after being attacked with a butcher's knife.

But last week the Foley Police Department in Alabama announced they had arrested her on suspicion of murder.

"Based on the evidence that has been recovered, we don't believe that Mr Doyle inflicted those injuries," said assistant district attorney Patrick Doggett.

Her lawyers will claim she was physically abused by her husband before his death.

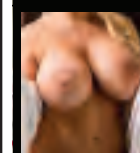

Foley Deputy Chief of Police Thurston Bullock said: "Linda Doyle had recently made some police reports that we were looking into."

Attacker knifed and clubbed to death

A MAN who broke into his ex-girlfriend's home and attacked her was killed when the woman's mother and sister retaliated with a kitchen knife and golf clubs.

Justin Goss, 40, hurled a concrete paver through the window of the property in South Pasadena, California, and began choking and punching his 37-year-old ex in the face before he was stabbed and beaten to death.

The mum and sister won't face charges, according to the Los Angeles County Sheriff's Department.

DEAN

#HOT'N'HORNY

CURVY Claudia Dean says having a shag is the best hangover cure.

And she should know – she joined the Mile High Club to rid herself of a boozy headache!

The 32DD lovely, who's from Twickenham, was flying back from a holiday in Ibiza when her and a male pal decided to get down and dirty.

Fragile

Claudia, 25, said: "We'd been to Ibiza to party and it was everything you'd expect.

"Needless to say on the plane home we were a bit fragile and a bit sad that the fun was over.

"I was sat next to a male pal who's one of my fk buddies. I glanced around and there was nobody looking so I undid his flies and whipped out his cock.

"I brought him close to coming about four times and eventually managed to get his willy back into his pants and led him to the loo.

"He slipped straight in and I had a really huge orgasm within a couple of minutes, and another one as I felt his load shoot into my sopping pussy.

"Afterwards, I felt in a much brighter mood. It's a great cure for a hangover!"

She added: "Ah! Remember flying on planes? Feels like a lifetime ago!"

JUSTIN DUNN'S ROOM 101

WHAT'S ANNOYING HIM THIS WEEK?

MIRACLE ESCAPE:
Romain Grosjean

Danger & excitement... it's what F1 is all about

THE crash on the first lap at the Bahrain Grand Prix on Sunday was horrific.

Watching Haas team driver Romain Grosjean emerge from the billowing inferno that moments earlier had been a racing car was heart-in-your-mouth stuff.

That the carcass of the vehicle he walked away from was torn entirely in two and he got away with some minor burns and a broken rib or two was nothing short of miraculous.

So massive kudos to the medical team and F1 marshals who were on the scene in an instant, risking their lives and limbs to get Grosjean to safety.

I suspect fans like me who sat staring aghast at their screens weren't just staggered by what they had just witnessed, though.

It was also arguably THE most watchable thing in Formula 1 since Lewis Hamilton won his first championship in Brazil back in 2008.

Sure, the introduction of the cockpit halo – a sort of roll-bar, much derided by pretty much everyone when it was introduced in 2018 – almost certainly helped save Grosjean from a grisly death on Sunday.

Because let's face it, bones about this – without it, he could easily have been decapitated when his car slewed through a safety barrier, slicing his car into two.

Grosjean went from 140mph to zero in an instant and as anyone who has ever had a bump at even half that speed knows, it bloody well hurts – and often, much worse than that.

But this was nevertheless an incident that really got the adrenaline pumping for those of us starved of entertainment for the best part of a year.

We all know footy without fans is sterile.

And you can have all the holes-in-one you like in golf, but it'll never get your guts wobbling.

Put 20 jet engines on wheels next to each other on a dusty night-time racing track circuit in the desert, however, and there is always the potential for destruction, injury... and even death.

Already-crowned 2020 world drivers' champ Hamilton tweeted afterwards that "the risk we take is no joke, for the use of you out there that forget that we put our life on the line for this sport and for what we love to do".

Good. I'm really glad he recognised that.

Because that really IS what Formula 1 is all about – danger, risk, bravery, skill, tenacity, with extra dollops of danger and bravery on top.

Aside from Hamilton breaking records on his way to becoming a seven-time F1 world champion, what else had us talking about the sport recently?

We've been talking about taking the bloody knee – about those who do, and those who don't.

About Hamilton's desire to spend more time promoting his worthy causes and his fashion and his music and, who knows, maybe a burgeoning interest in breeding beavers.

But Sunday reminded us what Formula 1 and motor racing in general is actually all about.

Pushing the car to the limit.

Risking life and limb.

Exciting the fans.

The rest is just background noise.

Ex-hooker's first trans woman on Bronx council bid

AN ex-prostitute who was busted in a police sting is running to become a council's first trans woman member.

Elisa Crespo, 30, is seeking to succeed outgoing Ritchie Torres in the 15th council district in New York's tough Bronx area.

Torres – the first openly gay person to get elected in the borough – is vacating the seat in January after getting elected to Congress.

Crespo (above) was arrested for prostitution in Jacksonville, Florida, in November 2012 after posting a sex/escort ad on the internet.

"I am no longer engaged in sex work," she said.

She transitioned to female at the age of 15 and said getting arrested and spending time in jail was a low point that triggered a turnaround in her life.

She supports legal steps to decriminalise prostitution – by no longer punishing paid sex between two consulting adults.

"Sex work is work," she said.

Cop posted photos of 'hot' ex online

A COP allegedly posted nude photos of his "hot" ex-girlfriend online without her knowledge, court documents show.

Jacob Carley, a 41-year-old officer in Manitou Springs, Colorado, was arrested after publishing the revealing photos that were meant "only for him" on his Tumblr account.

He has been hit with a charge of suspicion of posting a private image for harassment.

The 45-year-old former flame told Colorado Springs police she gave Carley the images when the pair were dating and felt violated upon seeing them on the social networking site.

She also told police she worried the images might cause her to lose her job if anyone saw them and claimed to be fearful of Carley because he's a police officer.

NICOLE KIDMAN: WHY I LOVE 'EXQUISITE' SEX

GREAT BODY OF WORK: Topless Nicole and (above) starring with Hugh Grant in The Undoing

WOW FACTOR: Naked Daisy Edgar-Jones in Normal People

NICOLE Kidman says the sex scenes in BBC3's hit series Normal People get her juices flowing.

And she praised the X-rated encounters between Daisy Edgar-Jones and Paul Mescal as "exquisite".

Nicole, 53, said: "There's a lot of sexuality in Normal People, but both actors felt very safe and they were able to still do those really intimate things.

"It was exquisite work. I hope the generations to come look back and go 'Wow!'"

Saucy

Nicole is currently involved in a saucy drama herself alongside Hugh Grant in HBO's The Undoing.

They play Jonathan and Grace Fraser, who are torn apart when he has an affair, only for the mistress to end up dead.

Yet there is still plenty of intimacy between the warring couple, as Jonathan is put on trial – and released on bail – for mistress Elena's murder. "I hope Hugh and I make a sexy couple," Nicole, 53, said.

"For it to work, you have to want these people to be together."

"I hope people want us to be together. I hope that is the desire on screen."

Nicole is no stranger to X-rated roles.

She stripped in the 1999 Stanley Kubrick erotic drama Eyes Wide Shut alongside then-hubby Tom Cruise.

NAKED GIRL BROKE INTO CHURCH

A WOMAN has been arrested after she broke into a local church while NAKED!

Treasure Camille Ducote Meylian, 26, has been charged with commercial burglary, which is punishable by up to 10 years in prison.

According to cops, officers were called to a disturbance between a man and a nude female.

While en route, police were told the pair had separated and the woman was possibly behind Lake Hamilton Baptist Church in Hot Springs, Arkansas.

A witness flagged down Sgt Bill House and told him he had seen a naked woman breaking out a glass door at the church.

Shattered

Officers went there and found a back door glass shattered and the door partially open.

Cops went outside and found a woman – later identified as Meylian – standing in front of the church nude and bleeding from both hands.

Meylian (right) was taken to a local hospital for treatment.

A police source said: "We're godly folk down these parts and it ain't the kind of place where you often find an unclothed lady in the House of God, no sir."

"Whatever punishment the judge delivers ain't gonna mount up to a whole hill of beans compared to the punishment the Almighty is going to deliver on Judgment Day!"

THE WORLD FAMOUS AGONY

Page

Dear Ava,

I WORK in an arcade in a seaside town. The money's not bad and there's always a fresh coachload of horny women to try to shag – summer or winter.

The other week I spotted a babe trying to fiddle the machines, so I led her to the back office where I threatened to call the cops.

She said she'd do anything if I didn't and in seconds she was naked and bent over my desk with six inches of cock wedged up her.

And it didn't take long for me to explode in her slot.

While she was getting dressed I asked if she wanted a hot dog. She giggled and said she'd show me a great trick with it.

So I rushed off, imagining it up her snatch, but when I got back she'd done a bunk with the day's takings!

What can I do?

DF, South-East

Ava says...
I GUESS you both hit the jackpot

Dear Ava,

MY mate's mum gave me £50 to shag her and a friend last week.

They're both in their 50s and have pretty decent bodies, even if their faces are a bit wrinkly from all the fags and booze they consume.

I must have made a half-decent job of it because they say they want to make it a regular thing.

They've even offered me an extra £25 if I shag another of their MILF pals.

But I feel guilty about cheating on my girlfriend, not to mention my mate finding out.

Any ideas?

SW, Edinbugh

Ava says...
JUST lie back and think of the money!

Lovin' thy neighbours!

Dear Ava,

I WAS in my garden last weekend tidying up for winter when my new neighbours looked over the fence.

They're a pair of fit babes in their early 20s who moved in a couple of weeks ago, and they asked me round for a few beers.

I was well up for shagging the pair of them and when they started kissing and fondling each other I asked if they could show me upstairs.

After we all stripped off they made a grab for my dick and took it in turns sucking me off until I was on the verge of completion.

We switched round and I boned one of them from behind while she got busy licking out her mate.

They were insatiable and I ended up shagging them again before I passed out knackered.

I saw one of them the next night and she told me that they don't want boyfriends because they have each other and they're normally only into lesbian sex.

But they'd like to carry on seeing me for some proper mancock every now and then, to keep their hands in.

Needless to say I'm well up for it but my bastard landlord has just put my rent up by £175 a month.

I can't really afford to stay but I want to keep shagging these honeys.

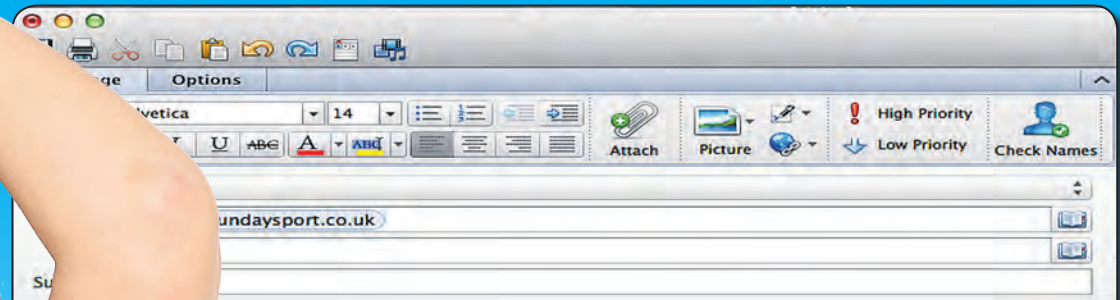

Please help!

PB, Bolton

GET your hands on the extra money!

AGONY IS BROUGHT TO YOU IN ASSOCIATION

WELCOME to the World famous Sport Agony page! No other newspaper's agony aunts can offer the level of advice – or experience – than our own Agony Angels! This week AVA DALUSH has been reading through your letters. Here's her advice...

GP is just what the love doctor ordered!

Dear Ava,

I USED to be a cheerful person, but since my hubby went off SEX two years ago, I've been more and more down – until I became a right MISERY.

So I decided to go and see my doctor to see if I could get some of those "happy pills" to cheer me up.

My GP listened while I blubbed my eyes out, telling him how I hadn't had sex in ages.

As I talked he gently stroked and patted my knee to comfort me while saying soothing things about how I was still very attractive and that it sounded like it was my hubby who had the problem, not me.

Vibrator

He also said he understood why I couldn't use a vibrator to pleasure myself because it couldn't tease me beforehand and cuddle me afterwards.

His warm palm tingled through my skirt and the skin on my thigh felt hot. I could feel the warmth spreading up to my pussy and my fanny lips swelled with blood and opened up like a flower in bloom.

I could feel the heat spreading up my body until my cheeks flushed and my eyes sparkled.

My doc looked into my eyes, smiled, and said: "The reason I can be so sympathetic to your situation is because it's the same one I find myself in. My wife just isn't interested in sex. I miss the touch of another human."

Then suddenly we were snogging each other's faces off. He had a beard, which was a bit scratchy, but it was so nice to be wanted by someone that I could feel my knickers flooding with my juices.

Pussy

The next minute, he had me up on his examination table, knickers down and legs spread. He put his face really close to my fanny and breathed in my scent.

"In my professional opinion, there's definitely nothing wrong with you," he said, winking.

Then he climbed on top of me, pulled his cock out through his fly and stuck it deep into me, filling every inch of my eager pussy.

We fked each other to three orgasms before the receptionist buzzed his room to see why he was running half an hour late with his appointments.

As we quickly dressed, he told me that he couldn't shag me again unless I changed doctors because what he'd just done could land him in an awful lot of professional trouble.

Well, I've now registered with a different doctor's surgery and my old GP comes round and gives me a dose of his own form of happiness at least three times a week!

DA, Cornwall

Ava says...

SOUNDS like your old doctor was very naughty! What he did could most definitely get him into a lot of trouble.

I'd tell you to report him, but it sounds like he's just what the doctor ordered!

Dear Ava,

MY missus has got a bad back and we've had to get some home help in.

We've read about these "nude" cleaning and housework services and joked about having a woman a couple of days a week for me to ogle, and a fit bloke for her.

When my wife said she'd arranged it I thought I'd be seeing a nude woman parading around our gaff.

Anyway, I had been getting up early for work and getting home late, so it was a few days before I was introduced to her – or should I say HIM...

Because the missus had got a student lad in!

That was OK, but the next day I sneaked home early and there he was starkers doing the chores.

Then the wife walked in and started fiddling with his dick, before they went at it on the floor.

I slipped away and came back the next day to watch a repeat performance.

This time I admit I had a quick wank while he had his head between her legs, then screwed her hard and fast from behind.

I should be angry but the sex is suddenly so much better with my wife, and I'm loath to point out her back seems a lot better.

What should I do?

GF, East Sussex

Ava says...

SACK the lad and clean up yourself, you lazy pig!

Sex with the merry widow is killing me!

Dear Ava,

I'm a 46-year-old bloke and I've been banging a widow 10 years older than me for the last three months.

I met her in my local and she always came over as friendly and happy – me and my mates had got to calling her the "Merry Widow".

I asked her out and we started dating, going for a few quiet meals and drinks together, stuff like that, before we finally got down to doing the business in her bed.

And was delighted to find that she's a real dirty cow in the bedroom.

My previous girlfriends had been a bit dull in regards to sex, only liking it the missionary position.

So I didn't really know there was more to bonking than I'd been getting.

But I soon found out as the Merry Widow encouraged me to lick her out and shag her up the bum.

I once did it five times in a night and I ended up with quite a sore dick!

She also loves being tied up and spanked and always begs me to come on her face and tits.

And she often dresses in susses and all the gear and rides me to oblivion.

She has a stash of porn DVDs and likes to get up in the kinkiest gear and sit and watch it with me, playing with my cock all the while and from time to time suggesting we do a position we've seen on the screen.

It all sounds like it's perfect, doesn't it?

My only worry is, she's almost killing me with all her sexual demands.

CM, Leeds

Ava says...

STOP moaning! Most men would love to be in your position!

'The thrill of almost getting caught makes it so horny!'

MIDWEEK Sport
ALWAYS HOME OF TOPLESS BABES

SEX in your warm, cosy bed is great but every once in a while I find it fun to switch up the location.

I set myself a challenge – to get jiggy with it anywhere but in the bedroom!

Me and my fella had a wild month doing that – we shagged on the kitchen table, in the back garden and in my car in a quiet layby.

You end up really using your imagination and being spontaneous. We went away for the weekend and ended up going at it in the lift of the hotel, and on the balcony of our luxury apartment.

We nearly got caught each time – we were just putting our clothes back on when the lift doors opened and an older couple were stood there.

And I'm sure someone was peeping at us on the balcony from a nearby apartment!

The thrill of getting caught makes it so horny!

Marie, 27, from Prague, Czech Republic, said she loves to strip naked for the camera.

And if she's feeling really horny, she said the photographer might catch a glimpse of some of the 32DD babe's 'extras'.

She said: "I like to be as naked as possible."

"I get booked for a topless shoot but I want to pull down my panties and put my fingers in my pussy."

"Sorry, but that's just the way I am - getting naked always makes me so horny."

"On the bus on the way home there is always a huge wet patch in my little panties!"

"Honestly, you would not believe just how hot I get during sexy photoshoots!"

IT'S finally time to say goodbye to the creepy Crawleys of Downton Abbey and hello to the horny hotties of buxom Bottomley Manor!

For all you red-blooded fellas who love your porn but are bored to tears by dull Down on Abby this is your lucky day.
Released last week, the UK's most highly anticipated adult movie is available exclusively through the Sport's adult partner Private Shops and, for a limited time they're offering readers another £5 OFF the already low, low price.
Down on Abby is a big budget, full length adult masterpiece starring porn legend Ben Dover and a cast of the hottest adult stars around. It will transport you to Bottomley Manor, home to the Lord Grabhem (played by Ben Dover), his wife (and 2014 AVN nominee) Jasmine Jae, and their two young promiscuous step-daughters, Abby and Fanny.

The Grabhems have invited the Stiffies to dinner and their staff, led by butler Small and footman Master Bates, hurriedly prepare to receive their honoured guests.
But during preparations some members of staff have their own ideas of how to make the night go with a bang! As dinner approaches it seems everyone's got more than fancy nosh on their minds. Mind you, there is plenty of noshing as well as lots of other filth that will even cause a crease in Carson's keks.
We see plenty of R18 DVDs at the Sport but this one is really something special and one you MUST not miss!
This future classic stars Ava Dalush as Missy, Cathy Heaven as Lucy, Emma Leigh as Betty, Jasmine Jae as Lady Wanda Grabhem, Jasmine James as Fanny Grabhem, Jess West as Lady Stiffie, Lexi Lowe as Abby Grabhem, Ben Dover as Lord Will Grabhem, Big Bad Dave as Smithers and Clarke Kent as Master Bates.

That's right fellas, we publish sexy snaps of the babes you most want to see – TOPLESS or even NAKED.

Every Wednesday, Show Me The Honey features the cute curves of the glamour girls you're clamouring for. This service – UNIQUE to British newspapers – is totally FREE!

All you have to do is drop us an email to request@sundaysport.co.uk telling us why you want to see your favourite girl, then sit back and let us do the rest.

CHARLOTTE ELIZABETH

PLUMBER Nathan Grimes wants to see his hometown glory, gorgeous Charlotte Elizabeth.

The Chesterfield bloke, 32, emailed in asking for a saucy snap of 26-year-old babe Charlotte showing off her pert 34B norks.

He said: "Stunning girls like her make me proud of being from Chesterfield."

"Fit girls give us a spring in our step. She's a worldie – and has a great pair of boobs on her too!"

ADRIANA

TAXI driver Arshad Khan fantasises about glamour girl Adriana hailing his cab.

The 33-year-old from Manchester gets his fair share of passengers but his dream would be for topless stunna Adriana, 24, to flag him down.

He said: "Adriana has just moved to Manchester too so there's every chance one day she might hop into my taxi."

"I dream about her jumping in the back and a 'fake taxi' scenario playing out – I'd do anything to get my hands on those 30Cs."

EMMA SPELLAR

READER Callum Holgate wrote to us asking for a topless snap of gorgeous brunette babe Emma Spellar.

The 45-year-old is an avid fan of the Sport, and glamour girl Emma, 35, from Woodford, is his all-time favourite sextop.

He said: "Being from Ayr in Scotland, it's a bit remote – but ogling Emma makes the cold chill a bit more bearable."

"If you could print a photo of her showing off her 32DD boobs, it'd really bring a warmth to my nether regions."

STUNNING Electra Morgan says her love of yoga comes in VERY handy in the bedroom. The 22-year-old model and Babestation presenter said her flexibility is a plus when it comes to bending into weird and wonderful sex positions.

Pushed

And the 32DD beauty, from Middlesbrough, revealed she loves a dominant man to boss her about and throw her where he wants her.

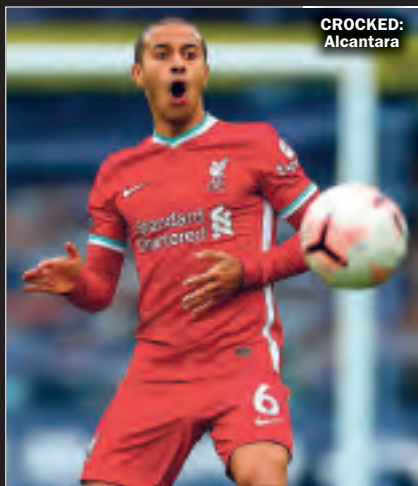

She said: "With the man on top, I'm pretty good at getting my legs up out of the way and pushed far back near my head."

"Sex standing up with my legs up is hot if the guy is strong - I love to try new positions!"

Big no go for Thiago says Klopp

JURGEN Klopp is fuming that Thiago Alcantara faces another SIX WEEKS on the sidelines.

The Spanish playmaker was crocked in the Merseyside Derby thanks to an X-rated tackle by Richarlison.

The Brazilian was sent off for that knee-high challenge and it was thought that Thiago had got away with just a short time out.

But he's still not able to train and looks set to be out until January. Klopp is already on edge over injuries because he wants to use five subs like last season after lockdown. That's not being allowed at the moment and it's winding the German up.

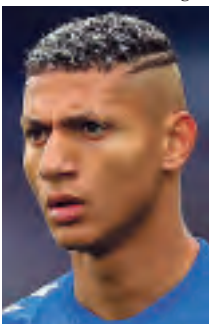

And he's not happy about Alcantara's plight either.

Klopp said: "On that day when Thiago got injured in that challenge in the Everton game, there was another bad injury and after the scans it was like one was really bad news and the other one was really good news because nothing was broken, nothing was ruptured and stuff like this."

"But, as we realise now, it was still a massive impact on the knee."

"The problem is in a situation like that, nothing is ruptured and nothing is broken and that means everybody thinks, 'OK, you can go after a few days', but the impact on the leg was that big that it is still not OK."

"It is not massive and he trains from time to time, not in the moment because we just have to realise that we have to go a few further steps. I can't say exactly when he will be fine, but it will take a few weeks still with Thiago."

Meanwhile, Liverpool have submitted plans to extend the capacity of Anfield to 61,000.

They aim to add an extra 7,000 seats behind the goal opposite the Kop.

The new Anfield Road end will cost around £60m and was due to start earlier this year.

It was put on hold when the pandemic struck.

But the club now wants to press on. MD Andy Hughes said: "We feel that we now have a proposal that has been informed by our neighbours, will support the wider economy and provide an opportunity for more of our fans to come to Anfield to support our great team."

"We've decided to move forward with the planning application."

BEN: BLUES LEAKY REAR IS PLUGGED

Chilwell makes case for Chelsea defence

BEN Chilwell believes Chelsea's dodgy defence has been kicked firmly into touch.

The Blues shipped goals galore last season, letting in a whopping 54 in the Premier League alone.

That forced boss Frank Lampard to take action and ditch misfiring goalkeeper Kepa Arrizabalaga and bring in experienced heads like Thiago Silva from PSG.

Along with Ben Chilwell adding more steel at left-back, the Blues look a lot stronger.

They have conceded 10 goals so far which is second only to Tottenham who were shut out in the Bridge in the table-topping clash on Sunday.

And Chilwell thinks keep-

By PAUL THOMAS

ing the likes of Harry Kane and Heung-min Son quiet shows just how far they have come.

The England full-back said: "For myself and the rest of the defence, when you are up against a strike force like that you have to concentrate for 90 minutes."

"As much as I would have loved us to have won the game—for myself and the rest of the defence it is very important to keep a clean sheet going forward."

"We know how good Kane and Son are. Both of them are very clinical going forward and their link up play between them is very good. We're happy with nullifying both of them."

"It was two good teams – tactically both very good on the day and another clean sheet, against a great strike force."

It's safe to say the derby was a borefest at the weekend but Chilwell insists being on the cautious side was a wise move with so much at stake.

He added: "When you are both battling it out at the top and points are crucial, you don't want to give them points and likewise they don't want to give us points."

"We would have loved to win the game at Stamford Bridge, but we will take the draw."

Many pundits believe the Blues are right in the title race.

They sit in third place, just two points behind joint leaders Tottenham and Liverpool.

But Chilwell insists it's too soon to be even thinking about mounting a genuine title challenge.

He added: "We are not looking that far ahead. We are taking each game. We will take the positives. It's a busy schedule so we recover and look forward to the next game."

Pushing

Chilwell should have a word with team-mate Rees James who believes Chelsea are right in the hunt with the likes of Liverpool and Spurs.

He said: "At the end of the day the aim of the team is to win the league and I think we've got every chance."

"That's the goal but we have to keep working and keep pushing and getting better as a team."

"Now we move on to the next game."

Mbappe can lead PSG to OT glory

GOAL THREAT:
Kylian Mbappe

PARIS St Germain have to win against Manchester United in the Champions League at Old Trafford tonight.

You would think that won't be easy with the Reds having pulled off their second success against the French giants last time.

They also won at the Parc Des Princes last season before PSG hit back in the reverse fixture at Old Trafford.

United need to pick up just one point from their remaining two fixtures in the group and they will want things wrapped up before a difficult trip to Red Bull Leipzig on the final day.

And it could go down to that because PSG could well have too much firepower at Old Trafford.

We saw at Southampton on Sunday that United are still having problems at the back.

Dean Henderson is likely to be in goal for the injured David De Gea and that's not much of a hardship.

But Victor Lindelof and Harry Maguire continue to give opposing forwards plenty of chances with Kylian Mbappe and Neymar waiting to take full advantage.

PSG have scored in each of their past 30 away group games in the Champions League which is a sobering stat for United supporters.

The bookies make the visi-

2-1 AWAY WIN LOOKS BIG AT 9/1

tors slight favourites at 6/4 with United 2/1 biggest and the draw 27/10.

This has the makings of a narrow win for the visitors.

If you want to boost your odds make it 2-1 in the correct score market at 9/1 with Skybet.

While the stakes are high at Stamford Bridge, Chelsea head to Sevilla with both teams already in the knockout stage.

But that doesn't mean this is a dead rubber as winning the group should mean an easier draw in the last 16. The reverse fixture at Stamford Bridge ended 0-0 and the Blues have done well to pick up three wins in Europe since then.

It has been a similar story for the Spaniards but they had to work against Rennes and Krasnodar and there was just a goal in each match.

But they are in fantastic form in La Liga and can just edge past a Chelsea side who now have one eye on the Premier League title race too.

Sevilla have picked up five wins on the trot and they have a real knack of doing well against English sides.

They are looking to extend their unbeaten streak to eight against Premier League opposition.

Chelsea have a poor record against Spanish sides with no wins in their past six attempts.

It's tempting to go for the 1-1 draw which is 11/2 with most of the bookies.

But I can see Sevilla just nicking this even though Chelsea are doing much better defensively these days.

The general home win is a fair 15/8 but, like at Old Trafford, 2-1 is more tempting at 10/1 in a place and 9s with most of the layers.

If you think Chelsea can pull off the win the Blues have been chalked up at 13/8 which is far too skinny for my liking against a team that does really well at home.

★ IT WAS a huge winning weekend for our tips. Manchester City landed our 16/1 bet to beat Burnley 5-0! I also tipped up the Wolves win at 11/4 and the 13/5 draw at Stamford Bridge. You know where to come for top tips!

CARRA: FOOTY'S BECOME A VARCE

By ANDY MILLOM

VAR is ruining football — according to one of its “biggest fans”.

Liverpool legend Jamie Carragher says he WAS a big fan of video technology but now admits it's ruining football for fans and players.

He believes the worst incident came when Scotland qualified for the Euros after goalie David Marshall saved a penalty.

But nobody could celebrate the massive moment until they knew VAR had given the green light.

On top of controversial incidents in almost every game, Carra believes it's time to change.

He said: “I don't think people are enjoying football as much. The moment that sums it up for me is David Marshall saving the penalty for Scotland, a massive moment in his career and he couldn't celebrate as he was waiting for the referee. If I could go back, I would use VAR in a different way.”

“I was a massive fan of VAR.”

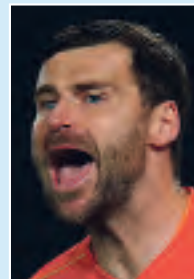

“They were bringing it in to help the game and I was defending it at the start as there were teething problems, but now we're at the stage where the majority of people in this country haven't bought into it.”

Carragher thinks most referees would like to make major changes to VAR too.

He added: “This was brought in to help referees, and let's not forget we were all calling for it, managers were calling for it when they were getting big decisions wrong. Referees need help.”

“But I actually think, in some ways, VAR has exposed referees. I don't think it's been a big help to them.”

“They're having second looks at

incidents and they are so obsessed with something that they don't see the big picture.

“They are so obsessed with looking for that offside, that they miss the foul. It goes back to the incident with Pickford and van Dijk. They are so obsessed with seeing whether someone is offside they actually miss the foul.”

Gary Neville agrees with his fellow Sky pundit, saying: “What's happened now is that referees' authority is being questioned, their credibility is being questioned and they are doubting themselves.”

Misfiring Auba a worry for Arteta

STRUGGLING Pierre Emerick Aubameyang is getting the blame for Arsenal's troubles.

Gunnars gaffer Mikel Arteta is coming in for lots of stick with the Londoners marooned in 14th spot.

There's no doubt what the problem is — goals.

Arsenal have managed to hit the back of the net just ten times in as many Premier League matches so far this season.

By JOHN ANTHONY

Patience is beginning to wear thin with Gunnars fans who point out that things were going better under previous manager Unai Emery.

Now under-fire Arteta has pointed the finger at captain Aubameyang who looked destined to leave the Emirates in the summer only to sign a new deal after none of Europe's biggest clubs came in for him.

Arteta is clearly looking for more from his main goal getter.

He said: "I think we all are because the main goal-scorer of the club at the moment isn't scoring goals, so my biggest concern is how to help him more to score goals because we need his goals.

"How important Auba has been for this club in the last two years and how the goal sheet has been shared among the squad tells you his importance.

"He needs to be scoring goals if we want to be successful."
